Louisville Courier-Journal: The automobile is only in its infancy, so there is hope that it may eventually become less noisy.

"Minnie," said a mother to her little daughter who had the tell-tale habit, "why is it you can't keep a secret?" "Because, mamma," explained the precocious miss, "two of my front teeth are gone, and the secrets just slip out."

Harper's Weekly: Do you really believe doctor, that your old medicines actually keep anybody alive? "Surely," returned the doctor. "My prescriptions have kept three drug grists and their families alive in this town for twenty years."

Little Elmer: Mamma, I saw a man down at the blacksmith's shop making a horse. Mamma: You must be mistaken, Elmer. Little Elmer: No, I'm not mamma. He had the horse nearly finished when I came by. He was just nailing on the feet.

The elevator in which the magazine editor was ascending dropped from the sixth floor, but the great man escaped serious injury. As he emerged from the wreck a friend stepped up to him and said: "Quick professional work, old man. You went through half a dozen stories in about as many seconds."

"My wife is economizing so we will be able to take a long vacation next summer." "Fine! Suppose she is doing with last year's hat and?" "No, she has already purchased a hat; but she has decided that I won't need a new suit this winter."

"Innuendo is very effective in oratory," said William Jennings Bryan. "A gentleman once visited Tuckahoe. As he sat on the hotel porch and fought the Tuckahoe mosquitoes, he said to an old resident, 'Have you a newspaper here?' The resident, skilled in innuendo, answered, 'Oh, no! We have a ladies sewing circle.'"

Abraham Lincoln was once asked to give his opinion of the financial standing of a certain man whom he knew. "The fellow has a wife and two children," wrote the president "and they ought to be worth $50,000 to any man. Then he has an office with a table and two chairs, worth say $3. In the corner of the room is a good sized rat hole that goes to show that some people are better off than they are aware."

While on your way to the furnace this morning read this little sermon which we plucked from the Warrenton Banner: "Profanity never did anyone any good. No man is the richer, the wiser or happier for it. It commends no one to a society or organization. It is disgusting to the refined, abominable to the good, insulting to associates, degrading to the mind, unprofitable, needless and injurious to society. Young man, do not stoop to the low level of profanity."

Dr. Lewis White Allen, the Denver physiologist, was giving an informal talk on physiology upon the windy, sea-fronting porch of an Atlantic City hotel. "Also," he said, "it has lately been found that the human body contains sulphur." "Sulphur?" exclaimed a girl in a blue and white blazer. "How much sulphur is there, then, in a girl's body?" "Oh," said Dr. Allen smiling, "the amount varies." "And is that," asked the girl, "why some of us make so much better matches than others?"

Life: A Scotch lady gave her servant very particular instructions regarding visitors, explaining that they were to be shown into the drawing-room, and no doubt used the Scotchism, "Carry any ladies that call upstairs." On the arrival of the first visitors Donald was eager to show his strict attention to the mistress' orders. Two ladies came together, and Donald seizing one in his arms said to the other, "Bide 'ya here till I come for ye," and in spite of her struggles and remonstrances, ushered the terrified visitor into his mistress' presence in this unwonted fashion.

Christian Herald: The new charity provides better housing for the poor and that is just as it should be. But even after that is done, there will be need for kind oversight. A friendly visitor went into an apartment house. One woman was very proud and happy to show her bedrooms, kitchen and living room. "But where is your bathroom?" the visitor asked. The visitor insisted upon seeing it, and finally when it was shown, the bathtub was covered with boards; when the boards were lifted a pig in brine was discovered. The woman

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale people lack good, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need invigorating, for, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach. A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver active, makes rich red blood and overcomes and drives out disease-producing bacteria and cures a whole multitude of diseases.

Get rid of your Stomach Weakness and Liver Laziness by taking a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—the great Stomach Restorative, Liver Invigorator and Blood Cleanser.

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

an explained: "We didn't need the bathtub, and so we thought we'd keep our winter meat in it."

Woman's Home Companion: Albert was a solemn-eyed spiritual looking child. "Nurse," he said one day, leaving his blocks and laying his hand on her knee "nurse is this God's day?" "No, dear," said the nurse, "this is not Sunday it is Thursday." "I'm so sorry," he said sadly, and went back to his blocks. The next day and the next in his serious manner he asked the same question and the nurse tearfully said to cook: "That child is too good for this world." On Sunday the question was repeated and nurse, with a sob in her voice, said: "Yes, Lambie, this is God's day." "Then where is the funny paper?" he demanded.

Miss Lyne's Visit

Miss Felice Lyne's visit here last Friday night proved a big event. She had been visiting her uncle, Dr. F. A. Howard, and family, at Slater and came upon the afternoon train, meeting many of our people as well as her former teacher, G. W. Newton.

At Stewart Chapel that night she was greeted by a monster house. She was accompanied by M. Boguslawski and a flautist from Kansas City. The concert did not begin till nearly nine o'clock.

When Miss Lyne stepped upon the platform she was greeted by a storm of applause and every number was encored in a manner which left no doubt of the hearers' approval.

Especially was the applause terrific in the solo in which she was accompanied by the flute. The gentleman who played the accompaniment came down from Kansas City to play for this one solo alone, and all agreed that it was the masterpiece of the evening.

Miss Lyne is a very handsome young lady and has unusually pleasing manners. This combined with her fine and well trained voice has made her a favorite at home and abroad. She has in her short career captured the hearts of royalty as well as the plain people by her voice.

At Friday night's concert there were visitors from many neighboring towns and it was probably the largest crowd ever assembled in Stewart Chapel. The community has Dr. F. A. Howard of Slater to thank for the opportunity of hearing Miss Lyne.

Painful Accident

C. T. Humphrey, of Grand Pass, had an accident last Thursday which he will not soon forget. He was riding a horse and carrying a fork when the horse threw him. He fell upon the fork in a manner that one of the prongs ran into his forearm until it struck the bone, then glanced across the elbow joint and penetrated to the bone joint, making a very painful wound. After pulling out the fork, which was difficult and painful, Mr. Humphrey sent for Dr. Richard of Blackburn. Mr. Humphrey was here Tuesday and said he is getting along nicely.
